OVERVIEW

Eric Brill is an associate and a member of the Construction and Infrastructure practice group. Prior to joining the firm, Eric was an associate at a Pittsburgh-based law firm where he focused his practice on complex commercial and construction litigation. In that role, Eric represented owners, developers, general contractors, and subcontractors in oil-and-gas disputes, design-defect claims, and public procurement matters in state and federal court, and various administrative boards. He also regularly represented clients in complex commercial litigation involving breaches of contract, fraud, various consumer protection acts, employment matters, and business tort claims.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Eric obtained his J.D. from the George Washington University Law School where he was a member of the Moot Court and Alternative Dispute Resolution Boards, as well as the Public Contract Law Journal. During law school, he interned with the Office of the General Counsel of the United States General Services Administration and the Office of the General Counsel of the United States Department of Education. He also served as a summer associate at a Pittsburgh-based law firm, where he later worked full time prior to joining K&L Gates. Eric obtained his B.A. from Allegheny College, where he double majored in History and Political Science with a focus on Law and Policy.
