OVERVIEW

Isaac Lederman is an associate in the firm's Asset Management and Investment Funds practice. He advises private fund sponsors, hedge funds, and investment advisers on fund formation, structuring, fundraising, regulatory compliance, and ongoing operations.

Isaac's experience includes work with sponsors across a range of private fund strategies, including private equity, venture capital, hedge funds, credit, real estate, infrastructure, and buyout funds. He assists clients with the formation and launch of commingled funds, co-investment vehicles, separately managed accounts, the negotiation of fund documents and side letters, and legal and regulatory issues arising throughout the fund lifecycle.

Before joining K&L Gates, Isaac practiced in the asset management group of another leading international law firm, where he advised private fund sponsors across a broad range of asset strategies. His practice combines experience in private fund formation with a strong foundation in investment adviser regulation and ongoing sponsor-side compliance.
