OVERVIEW

Shawn Hickey is an associate and member of the Intellectual Property Litigation practice group. Prior to joining the firm, Shawn was an associate at a boutique IP law firm where he focused his practice on patent litigation. Through this role he participated in all aspects of the litigation process, including document review, prior art research and invalidity analysis, infringement analysis, motion practice, discovery and depositions, claim construction, and damages.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Before entering the legal profession, Shawn spent approximately 15 years as a software engineer at companies ranging from early-stage startups to Fortune 50 organizations. Shawn's deep technical knowledge spans many domains, including middleware and desktop application architecture, mobile app development, artificial intelligence, encryption and data security, content distribution networks, streaming media, OS kernels and memory virtualization, audio signal processing, and autonomous navigation.
