OVERVIEW

Jeremy Huffman is a partner in the firm's International Trade, Investment Controls, and National Security practice group. He advises aerospace, defense, technology, and space-sector clients on export controls, sanctions, trade enforcement, regulatory investigations, and compliance matters. Jeremy has extensive experience counseling clients on compliance with US export and import laws and regulations, including the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR), Export Administration Regulations (EAR), economic sanctions administered by the US Department of the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC), and matters involving the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS).

Prior to joining the firm, Jeremy served as senior corporate counsel for a leading aerospace and defense company. In this role, he provided principal legal support for international programs across defense and space business operations, including foreign subsidiaries and joint ventures. He advised on export controls, import regulations, sanctions compliance, international business strategies, and complex cross-border transactions.

Jeremy also has experience conducting investigations and preparing voluntary disclosures to US and foreign regulatory authorities, including coordinating fact-finding efforts, witness interviews, corrective action plans, and engagement with government agencies. He has assisted companies in negotiating and addressing consent agreement requirements and has developed and delivered training programs for legal, contracts, supply chain, business development, and trade compliance professionals on export controls, sanctions, and related regulatory obligations.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Additionally, Jeremy was the founding member and partner of a Washington, DC-based law firm. His practice included aerospace defense, software, technology, export jurisdiction and classification analyses, licensing strategies, compliance program development and implementation, regulatory audits, internal investigations, and due diligence in connection with mergers, acquisitions, and divestitures. He also prepared voluntary disclosures submitted to the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls (DDTC), Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS), and represented clients in interactions with US government agencies regarding compliance and enforcement matters.
