OVERVIEW

Katherine Spring is an associate in the Energy Assets and Transactions practice group. Her experience includes work on renewable energy project finance and development, energy regulatory matters, and utility litigation across the United States. Katherine served as a summer associate with the firm, and supported lawyers on a range of energy-related matters. Additionally, she served as a research associate with a research center at the Vermont Law and Graduate School, where she completed a campus-wide survey of existing electric vehicle (EV) infrastructure to identify opportunities for expanding EV infrastructure in rural Vermont.

This is a temporary biography. A complete biography will be available soon.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Prior to joining the firm, Katherine also worked as a student clinician, collaborating with fellow clinicians, supervising lawyers, and clients on matters involving EV tax credits, energy efficiency and decarbonization initiatives, and community solar development. In addition, she attended educational seminars focused on grid development and emerging energy policy.
