OVERVIEW

Anna Amprimo is an associate in the firm's Milan office. She concentrates her practice on construction and real estate matters. Anna's practice is focused in the real estate sector, where she has acquired specific experience in investment construction matters, as well as in drafting and negotiating the relevant contracts. In particular, she provides assistance to investors and developers, both international and local, in relation to different real estate projects, including the sale and purchase of real estate assets with different use destinations and the development of real estate projects which require legal assistance from the acquisition phase, through the design and build phase until the final marketing stage.

Anna often advises real estate funds operating in different investment sectors, including the energy sector and, recently, the social housing sector.
